Access to Healthcare in Rural Areas- East Sumba , Tenggara Timur

The population of East Sumba is 250,700 people and the area is 7,000 km<sup>2</sup>. The main problem of this area is access to water, since it is such a dry area. The vulnerable part of the population concerns children having access to school. Most children have to walk to school and many do not have shoes. Thus, there is a high incidence of feet injuries among the students. Assistance is needed for children from 8 -15 ages.

Presently there are only 20 schools with a lack of qualified teachers, since there are no schools for higher education beyond High School.

The other vulnerable area of concern are adults who lack knowledge and information. Also, there is a lack and insufficient medical care available. There are 18 medical centers in this area (Puskesmas) and only 2 hospitals available for 22 districts. The hospital facilities can only perform 2 operations per month, one for children and one for adults. The departments of the Dinas Social and Dinas Kesehatan are involved with seeking assistance. Partners involved with the program are: Fair Future Foundation, Kawan Baik Foundation, Charis Sumba Foundation and SOPAN (Women and Children Solidarity, Sumba Volunteers, Health Centers (Puskesmas), Shaman (Traditional doctors), and Dinas Social. The motto of this program is , “ We believe that the role of an NGO is to create a bridge between the communities and the government.”

The objectives of the program are to provide primary medical care to the population through school centers, training of teachers and volunteers, and the creation of an information book in Sumabnese and Indonesian to instruct the population of modern and traditional medicines and injury prevention. There would be monitoring and evaluations of the program for short- and long-term progress.

Rtn. Jeni suggested a very good book, “Where there is No Doctor: A Village Health Care Handbook” by David Werner, as a good source for information for rural villages in 3rd world countries.

President Sarita

The meeting was adjourned at 1:30 pm.
